Reconstruction in Canada Under Consideration

CANADIAN NORTHERN WILL HAVE WORK FOR NOT LESS THAN FIFTY THOUSAND

NEW BRANCH LINES AND EQUIPMENT TOO

CANADIAN PACIFIC ALSO PREPARING FOR AN EXTENSIVE PROGRAMME AT ONCE

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—An important meeting of the Canadian Northern Railway directors will be held in Toronto tomorrow when an extensive programme of railway construction for the coming year will be outlined. The C. N. R. is just completed as a transcontinental and there are many sections which still need ballasting and many stretches where new rails and equipment are required. In addition the C. N. R. can use an enormous number of new box cars and locomotives. There are also a number of necessary new branch lines in the west which have been waiting construction for several years. These will likely be started next season.

The directors will go fully over the whole situation and will map out a coast-to-coast programme of necessary works which can be carried out in order to help tide Canada over the reconstruction period. Only useful works and lines which are required will be proposed. It is estimated that the C. N. R. programme alone could employ fifty thousand men.

The C. P. R. is preparing a similar policy for its road and will be able to employ this coming year thousands of additional workmen. When the programmes are prepared they will be laid before the government and it is likely another conference will be held with the steel men, when orders for rails and equipment of all kinds will be allocated.

This reconstruction programme will mean that the basic industries of iron and steel will be employed at full capacity during this coming year, even with munition orders cancelled, while the railways will be able to absorb thousands of skilled and unskilled laborers.

Notes From Overseas

The former Crown Prince of Germany was not shot but has been interned in Holland.

The first words the German plenipotentiaries said to Marshal Foch were: "Germany's army is at your mercy, Marshal. Our reserves of men and munitions are completely exhausted, making it impossible to continue the war."

The German markets are being flooded with food hoarded by profiteers during the last four years.

Germany's debt to France alone for this war is computed at $68,000,000,000. France wants no indemnity profits.

The former German Empress and the wife of the former Crown Prince will be allowed to join their men in Holland.

Affairs in Holland are in bad shape and are rapidly reaching a crisis between the government and people.

The peace conference it is thought will commence sometime next month.

The British parliament will propose soon and the elections under entirely new conditions will be held on December 14th. Premier Lloyd-George seems to be the unanimous choice to carry on the British government.

Gen. Townsend who was captured by the Turks in 1916 returned to London last Thursday and received a great reception.

Allied troops and ships have arrived at Constantinople and the eastern gateway to Russia is now open.

A complete agreement has been made for union of Jugo-Slavs with the Serbians.

The women of Germany have made appeals to President Wilson's wife and women of America for a moderation of the armistice terms.

The Germans still continue to send wireless messages to the U. S. for easier terms but have been informed that they must take up these matters with the Allies by diplomatic means.

Expects Airplane Competition

"We are preparing to open a bureau of travel at all important points in the west to encourage business on the government lines," said George Creelman, general passenger agent of the C. N. R. at Winnipeg when leaving to take up new headquarters at Toronto. "Competition is to be made keen," added Mr. Creelman. "We expect airplane service to be established at many western points in the near future and we propose to be on the alert to encourage traffic on our railway and head off this new idea."

Victory Loan Great Success

TOTAL AMOUNT SUBSCRIBED $676,027,217

The big Canadian Victory Loan campaign is over and its success has exceeded the most sanguine expectations of its enthusiastic workers and promoters the total amount subscribed being $676,027,217, or $176,027,217 more than was asked for. The wonderful result of this new loan can hardly be estimated in dollars and cents, it shows the unbounded faith that the people of this great country have in its ultimate progress and destiny.

In spite of the great handicaps that have been imposed upon the loan committees all over the country they stuck to their work and the magnificent returns are a monument to their untiring zeal with the excellent support of the public.

Every province in Canada went over its objective, most of them with a big margin. Ontario had agreed to raise half of the loan, or $250,000,000, she raised $329,679,000.

ALBERTA GOES OVER THE TOP

Alberta returns were $18,189,600, the city of Calgary raising $5,565,000 of this amount which was $2,500,000 beyond its quota.

DIDSBURY WINS FLAG AND CROWN

The enthusiasm and hard work of the local and district committee, most of them being men who have had their hands full of other troubles caused by the influenza, showed up splendidly towards the last and they ran the total up to $61,850 or $1,850 over their objective thus winning an honor flag and crown.

The committee felt somewhat dubious at the beginning of last week as to whether they would do any more than just reach their objective, but they got down to work harder than ever with the result as stated above.

Amount raised by sections in the Didsbury district:

N. mile	Amount	Amount
Tp. Rge. of Tp.	Allotted	Raised
Town of Didsbury	$20,000	$21,500
31 1 30	9,000	4,250
31 2 30	9,000	8,250
31 3 31	8,000	12,500
31 4 & 5 31	1,200	4,050
32 4 & 5	2,250	4,150
31 28 Gore Tp. 30	6,500	4,400
31 27 30	4,000	2,750

$2000 was collected from the north mile of township 30 by Carstairs which should be credited to Didsbury as they exceeded their territory.

Three Demobilization Centres in Alberta

When the soldiers come back from overseas, the Alberta men will be discharged from three dispersal centres, Edmonton, Calgary, and Medicine Hat. Trains of 450 men for each of these points will be made up at the ports of debarkation and brought direct west, their passengers to be distributed to final addresses in Alberta after reaching the three demobilization stations.

This plan awaits formal ratification by the war council, but according to Howard Stutchbury, secretary of the Alberta Returned Soldiers' commission, who has just returned from a trip to Ottawa, it is part of a general scheme that has been laid before the Canadian authorities by the department of demobilization in England, and is likely to be adopted as the best method of dealing with the question.

It is practically certain that the men will not be brought back in battalions. The more probable plan will be that they will be returned according to the trades most likely to be quickly absorbed in Canada. Farmers, for instance, will be given almost first place. So far as possible, it is thought, the preference will be given to married men who have been overseas the longest, but the two schemes will be worked together.

The plan as proposed from England, and as Mr. Stutchbury heard it in Ottawa, is that the men will be allowed before leaving England and France to select their points of discharge in Canada, and when signing out from the clearing depots they will know exactly where they are going. On the way across the Atlantic they will be sorted into trainloads for their respective destinations.

The trains that will bring the returning veterans to the west will be heavy cross-continent specials, carrying from 400 to 450 men each, and in the case of Alberta they will be headed for the three dispersal centres only. All men for the southern part of the province will be ticketed to Medicine Hat, those for the Calgary and central districts to Calgary, and all north of Red Deer to Edmonton.

Mr. Stutchbury conferred while in Ottawa with General Ashton, in charge of administration affairs, and with officials of the department of labor. The latter proposes to establish a system of national employment bureaus throughout the Dominion, and the co-operation of the provincial governments has been asked for.—Edmonton Journal.

Alberta Legislature Will Meet End of January

Edmonton, Nov. 14.—The Alberta legislature will meet toward the end of January, according to Premier Stewart who announced today that it had been practically decided to call the next session shortly after the third week of the new year.

It is expected that the first meeting of the house after the war will see a number of new projects in the way of provincial works. The telephone department will be almost certain to come in for a large expenditure, which will be given consideration by the legislature, and the results of the special investigation into the management of the department as recently completed by J. C. Wray of Boston will then be made known.

Several public works, particularly in the way of buildings that have been held over till the war was done will also likely be on the new legislative programme, and a general facing-up of the conditions in the first year of peace will be before the house. Premier Stewart says the province has come through the war in respect to its finances in a generally satisfactory way and the only disturbing feature is the fact that the taxation has not been coming in quite as well as hoped for.

The Flu Situation

A great deal of relief is being felt in the southern part of the province because of the fact that the influenza epidemic seems to be dying down, in fact according to reports there are very few cases in the south now.

The situation in Calgary is so much better that theatres will be opened on Wednesday night and other public places on Thursday; schools, churches and colleges will open on Sunday and Monday next and masks will be done away with excepting where people congregate in any numbers inside of buildings.

The provincial board of health has lifted all bans and has left it in the hands of the Municipal councils and boards of health to carry out any restrictions they wish according to the different acts, but the councils have full power to act irrespective of the boards of health in certain cases.

In Didsbury and surrounding district the epidemic seems to be pretty well subdued and there are only a few cases scattered here and there.

The temporary hospital at the school only contained six patients on Tuesday and it was thought that it might be closed down soon.

A great deal of credit is coming to the lady who has acted as Superintendent, Mrs. Edwards, and Miss Lantz and Miss Riddell of the High School staff and others for their services as voluntary nurses, and also to Mr. Fensome, who took up the hospital at the beginning, for the good work that has been done which no doubt has been the means of saving some lives at least. At one time there were twenty-seven cases in the hospital.

It is to be hoped that the epidemic has now abated and that a few days will see the last of it.

A Very Sinister Person

Crown Prince More Dangerous Than Kaiser

The Crown Prince is clever—amazingly so. His face does not show it. He has been caricatured to represent a rabbit. There is no denying that his features look weak. He has often been photographed grinning in a silly way; but the grin can be sinister too. For Frederick Wilhelm is one of the most dangerous and sinister men in the world. Because of his skill as an actor, because of his ruthless ideas on divine right, because of his recklessness, of his lack of religious fear—which fear his father has—the Crown Prince is a much more dangerous man than the Kaiser.—Christian Science Monitor.

War Dogs to Be Dropped

In the opinion of the United States G. H. Q. the war dogs' days are over. The dogs have performed heroic tasks, but after consultation with French army experts it was decided to drop the idea of establishing American army kennels. It is not generally known that large numbers of the dogs attached to the French and British armies have died through being gassed. They could not refrain from scratching holes in their gas masks.

Machine Gun Nest Hidden in Cemetery

Germans Dug Out for Position Beneath Concrete Pedestal of Cross

In a cemetery near Limey, just within the German lines, previous to the attack of September 10, American troops have discovered German machine gun nests beneath the concrete pedestal of a large cross.

The Germans had dug in along the centre of the foundation and constructed machine gun positions at three places facing toward the French lines. The cemetery is on a hill commanding a view of the country to the south, and the Germans assumed that if an attack were made the cemetery would not be subjected to artillery fire.

When the Franco-American offensive started the Germans held the machine gun nests in the cemetery as long as possible, but were compelled to retreat in haste before they could use the guns. So hurried was the enemy retirement that several machine guns were found in the cemetery by the allies. The cemetery was not hit by shells and the cross still stands.

THE BUSINESS WOMAN

Today, more than ever before, is woman opportunity. Many new occupations are now opened to her, which, before the war, she was deemed unfitted to fill. And truth to tell she has risen to the opportunity, and now shares many business responsibilities in former times confined to men. But, as women are subject to more frequent fluctuations of health than men, many will be handicapped early, if they regard their health requirements too lightly.

The nervous strain, long hours and prolonged mental or physical fatigue thin the blood and weaken the nerves. Such conditions as women are now called upon to undergo can only be endured by a full-blooded constitution. This is as true for men as for women, only weaker women suffer sooner.

The woman worker, in any line, requires her blood replenished frequently. She needs new, rich blood to keep her health under the trying conditions of business life, and to fortify her system against the effects of overwork. This applies also to the woman in the home, who, perhaps, has more worries and anxieties than usual. So let all girls and women take heed and renew their blood promptly at the first approach of pallor, lack of appetite, headache or backache. This can be best and most effectively accomplished by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which make new, rich blood and thus help womanhood so perfectly. No woman need fear failure of health if they take these pills occasionally to keep them well, or give them a fair trial if they find themselves run down.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Weeds for Hun Food

Luxury-loving German General Had Recipes for Soldiers' Mess

In Essex, one of the towns captured, the German general quartered there has a mess hall fitted out with fine furniture, a hotel range, fine china and silverware, which were all left behind. The officers of his staff had individual coffee cups with the Iron Cross and pictures of the Kaiser and Hindenburg on them. Two silver forks with Hindenburg's likeness engraved on the handle had been used by the general. The general had electric lights and call buttons, and an elaborate assortment of food. The haste of the flight is shown by the fact that he left behind two cases of boche beef. In the office of this same luxury-loving general were found large numbers of copies of a pamphlet for distribution to the soldiers, telling how to use weeds for food. A long list of weeds is set forth as good enough for food. There was a recipe to make soup from nettles and salad from sorrel, and many other recipes of the same sort. At the bottom the leaflet said the soldiers should develop the use of weeds for food, adding: "This will be valuable after the war."

Captured letters said the Americans were in the war as a sporting proposition, and regarded it as a big picnic, and regretting they did not cast their lot with the Germans, and expressing wonder why the Americans did not pick a winner and side with the Kaiser. One letter from an officer's wife took him to task for remonstrating with her for asking 700 marks for a new dress, saying that was the cheapest she could get it under the prevailing high prices in Berlin.

In a captured document is a very formal note signed "Wilhelm," calling on all good Germans to mourn for eight days the death of the brave and illustrious ally, the Sultan of Turkey.

Eiffel Tower is

Twenty-nine Years Old

Is Most Important Wireless Station in Europe

The Eiffel Tower is just 29 years old, having been erected for the Paris Exhibition of 1889. Although it was denounced as ugly, for the same reason as a skeleton, because it is unusual, its rigid lines are really graceful. It has outlived its popularity as a pleasure resort, although it offers a wonderful panorama of Paris but it serves a far more important international service as perhaps the most important wireless station in Europe, for it is in direct communication with Canada, 2,500 miles off. Its mass of 8,000 tons of iron is 984 feet high, or, if its lightning protection be added, just over 1,000 feet, which is five times the height of the monument on Fish Street Hill. In England William Holland's enterprise in imitation of it, the Blackpool Tower, still flourishes, but Sir Edward Watkin's scheme, the Wembley Tower, had the fate of the Tower of Babel, and the uncompleted fragment, which was for years a land mark on the C. G. R., has long since been swept away.—London Globe.

Its Virtue Cannot Be Described.—No one can explain the subtle power that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil possesses. The originator was himself surprised by the wonderful qualities that his compound possessed. That he was the benefactor of humanity is shown by the myriads that rise in praise of this wonderful Oil. So familiar is everyone with it that it is prized as a household medicine everywhere.

Armies That Melt Away

An Englishman who has just returned from Russia says that local hatred of the Germans has become intense throughout the whole of European Russia, but the organization of an army is a task apparently beyond the wit of man. When men are wanted for the protection of a particular district or area they are easily obtained. There is no doubting their determination or their courage; but if any attempt is made to lead them elsewhere they simply melt away, returning to their farms and resuming their ordinary daily routine.

The German undertaking to the Bolsheviks that they will not advance beyond the present well defined line may not be worth much; but it is not making Russian army organization easier.

There Is No End To Giving

Stay-at-homes are Asked Only to Give Money, Not Their Lives

Is there no end to giving? There is not—until the great end. The best line that any advertiser in the United States ever wrote was the line: "While some one gives his life, what are you giving? Think a minute."

What are you giving, you who run loose and go about your virtually undisturbed affairs? What are you giving when you think a minute of the fellows who fight Germans and coolies, rats and trench fever, gas and shrapnel, mud and filth, and endure atrocious suffering or miserable discomfort?

What have you given or what can you give? The demands upon your money do come rapidly. It is the way they have to come. It represents the pressure which must be put upon. Even this pressure is an indication of our own good fortune. You are here, being asked for your money but not your life.

This is the way in which the loose coin of the nation is shaken out of its pockets; the fashion in which lose habits are ironed out and community discipline imposed.—From the Chicago Tribune.

South Africa's Fine Part

Not Limited to Achievements on Her Own Borders

South Africa has conquered more German territory than all the allies combined. German Southwest and German East Africa are huge areas of rich country only lacking development.

But South Africa's contribution to the war is not limited by her achievements on her own borders. She raised 40,000 troops for these campaigns, but she sent 60,000 to other war theatres including Europe. She suppressed one rebellion of her own citizens and she prevented another gaining headway. She has built miles upon miles of new railways and now controls the second largest railway system under one management in the world. She has become self-supporting and food shortage is unknown. Her exports to Great Britain of maize, wool and leather have grown enormously.—From the Vancouver World.

No Cane Sugar Permitted

All Iced Cake Must Come From Maple Tree

Time was when Canadian fruit cake, pound cake, layer cake, etc., was made "pound for pound." During the past few months confectionery manufacturers have been struggling with the problem of making first class cakes with only 60 per cent. of sugar to the pound. Now the problem is intensified and they are ordered to make cake with only 40 per cent. sugar.

Icing cakes, as may be imagined, is a great source of worry. The few cakes that sport chocolate or nutty tops are made with maple sugar, for no cane sugar is permitted for this purpose. The Canadian production of maple sugar is limited in spite of the efforts on the part of the food board to increase the make last spring, and the additional demand from confectioners has already made serious inroads into existing supplies. Lots of maple sugar will have to be made next season if we are to have cakes at all in Canada!

Reorganization

Reorganization! Reorganization for Canada as well as the countries over the ocean is the word that is creating a great deal of thought in the minds of everyone since the armistice terms were signed and peace negotiations are about to commence. The next few months, perhaps years, will have its problems as great if not greater than during the last four terrible years of war, but we in Canada should not face this reorganization time with pessimistic forebodings but with a strong upstanding faith that if we put aside our selfishness and forsake our worship of the god of mammon, and help with all the means in our power to further the cause of righteousness, and justice to our fellow-man we can withstand any assault that may be made upon our material well being. If we go along in the same old way---there are a good many amongst us who have learned nothing during the whole of the testing time we have just gone through---then there is nothing ahead for us but confusion worse confounded. We do not believe that this will be the case. There are enough people in this glorious and splendid country of ours who have seen the light to enable us by their unselfishness and devotion to the great needs of our country and humanity in general to carry us through. The man who worships his pocketbook, the man who trades on his brother's misfortune or helplessness has no place in this great country today and their time of power is limited.

Taking the material side of our reorganization it begins to look as though our governments are not asleep at the switch; no doubt they have prepared somewhat for sudden peace and by all reports are getting busy preparing to put into force, as soon as possible some of the plans drawn up. The railroads are to go ahead with big improvements and additions to their lines, especially in the west, the programme of large ship construction is to be carried on and no doubt as soon as both federal and provincial parliaments meet other programmes will be laid out.

Who's Spreading False Reports

As though the minds of the public had not been harassed enough within the last few weeks some persons in the northwest and western parts of this district are spreading a report that Didsbury has several cases of black diphtheria.

This is emphatically denied, both Dr. Evans and Dr. Clarke, when asked about the matter by the Pioneer, stating that there was no diphtheria of any kind in town. In fact there have been very few cases of diphtheria for some time, Dr. Clarke stating that he has had only one case and that was a very light one since he came here.

Whoever started this report and those who repeat it lay themselves open to serious charges and if they are caught no mercy should be shown them, the public has suffered enough during the influenza epidemic.

May Close Hospital Soon

A meeting of the executive of the Didsbury Hospital Board with the Reeves of the Municipalities adjacent to Didsbury met in Mr. Brusso's office on Saturday, Nov. 9th, to discuss the possibility of soon closing the hospital, and of raising funds to meet the expenses not carried by fees.

The representatives of the municipalities had mostly been authorized by their Councils to pay their just dues towards the maintenance and upkeep of the hospital since its organization.

Twenty-seven patients in all have been admitted; 3 of them had died and now only 7 are left; 18 had been influenza cases, 8 pneumonia and 1 bronchitis.

It is hoped that we may close the hospital by the end of this week.--- R. B. Martin, Sec.-Treas.

"We'll not gang in yet," said Pete. They skirted the mound, which was larger than Foster thought and broken by out cropping rock, and when a thick screen of the birches rose between them and the building, crept into a nook among the stones. Foster imagined that the others might search for half the night without finding them unless they were lucky. Then Pete remarked in a meaningful tone: "There's just the two, and I have a good stick."

Foster smiled. He was tired, wet, and savage, and would have liked to confront Graham and settle their differences by force; but the matter could not be treated in this primitive way. He could not shoot the men, and would be no better off if he overpowered and threw them in the bog. They would know where he was and would follow him as close as was safe, while he wanted to shake them off and make them uncertain whether they were on his track or not. Besides, they might avoid a conflict.

"The thing's too complicated to be straightened out by knocking somebody down," he said. "But I'm glad I'm not here alone."

In the meantime, the others were getting nearer, for Foster heard them splash through the wet moss and stumble among the rushy grass. They were walking fast, which indicated that they thought themselves some distance behind the fugitives; but stopped when they saw the birches, and then came on again cautiously. Foster could not see them until their blurred figures appeared among the trees. So long as he kept still there was little chance of his being found.

The moonlight filtered through the low mist, which rose half way up the thin birch trunks on the top of the mound, but the shieling stood on a lower level, and when they went towards it the men's forms got very indistinct. They vanished, but he knew they had gone in when a pale stream of light flickered among the trees.

"A policeman's trick," Pete said in a low voice. "A poacher would not let ye see the light."

Foster felt that he must find out who the men were. It was risky, but it was worth trying, and he crawled out from behind the stones. The rock was rough and wet; his hand plunged into some water and he scraped his knee, but he made a few yards and then stopped and lay flat as the light went out. It looked as if the others had heard him, and he lowered his head until his face was buried in withered fern. There was silence for a few moments, and then his nerves tingled as he heard steps; the men, he thought, were coming out to look for him. He did not move, however, and the foot-steps got farther off. By and by there was a sharp rustle and he cautiously looked up. Two hazy figures showed among the trees, but it was plain that they were going away.

It was impossible to follow them without being heard, and he waited until Pete joined him. So far as he could judge by the noise they made, the men were hurrying across the bog.

"They're awa', but I wouldn't say they'll no' come back," Pete remarked. "If they dinna' strike the right place, they'll no' find it easy to cross the burn. She rins in a deep cut an' the bottom's sair."

"What's likely to happen if they get off the track?"
"Weel," said Pete with a chuckle, "it's vera possible they'll stop in the flow till morning, maybe up to the knees in mire. I dinna' think there's much reason they should get in deeper, but they might."

"But suppose they find the way and cross the burn?"

"Then, if they ken the country, I would expect them to laud a bit south for Shopford, where they would find an inn, or maybe west by the Clattering ford to Canonbie. If dinna' ken, it's likely they'll hae to sleep behind a dyke. Noo, however, we'll turn back and gang up the dale."

They recrossed the bog and skirted the moor for some time, after which they went down a long slope and reached a level space of grass and heath. They followed it north until a light shone ahead and the barking of dogs indicated that they were approaching a farm. Pete went in first, and Foster did not know what explanation he gave, but the farmer told him to sit down when he entered the big, flagged kitchen. He was not surprised when a woman who came in looked at him curiously, because he was wet and splashed, and bits of fern and heather stuck to his clothes, but his hosts asked no questions and presently gave him supper.

Soon afterwards he was shown a comfortable room and went to bed, leaving Pete with the others in the kitchen. Foster was glad to feel he could be trusted not to tell them too much, although he would, no doubt, have to satisfy their curiosity to some extent. A hint went a long way with the reserved Borderers.

XIX

Alice's Confidence

Foster got up late and after breakfast sat by the kitchen fire, studying his map. He imagined that his pursuers, believing him to be in front, would have crossed the low ground towards the cultivated valley of the Esk, where they would not have trouble in finding shelter for the night. Then, if they thought he was making for the Garth, the railway would take them up Liddesdale.

He meant to visit the Garth, although this might prove dangerous if Graham and his companion watched the neighborhood. So long as Pete was close at hand, the risk might not be great, but Pete could not be with him always and he thought Graham would stick at nothing to get his papers back. One of the gang had killed Fred Hulton, and Foster did not suppose the others would hesitate about getting rid of him, if it could be done without putting the police on their track. A shot or stab in the dark would effectually prevent his betraying them, and it might be made to look like an accident, or perhaps as if he had killed himself. Foster, as a rule, distrusted anything that looked abnormal or sensational, but admitted that he might be in some danger. For all that, he was going. There was no need for an early start, because he did not want to arrive in daylight and the distance was not great. Then he meant to avoid the high roads, and after a talk with Pete picked out his route across the hills. It was eleven o'clock when they set off, and they spent an hour sheltering behind a dyke while a snowstorm broke upon the moor. The snow was wet and did not lie, but the soaked grass and ling afterwards clung about their feet and made walking laborious. The sky was grey and lowering and there was a bitter wind, but they pushed on across the high moors, and when the light was going saw a gap in a long ridge in front. Foster thought this mark the way down to the Garth.

It was nearly dark when they reached the gap, through which a brown stream flowed, and he could see nothing except dim hillsides and the black trough of the hollow. Pete said they must follow the water, and they stumbled down hill among the stones beside the burn. As they descended, a valley opened up and a rough track began at a stone sheepfold. Although it was dark, Foster saw that they were now crossing rushy pastures, and they had to stop every now and then to open a gate. The stream was swelling with tributaries from the hills and began to roar among the stones. Birches clustered in the hollows, the track became a road, and at length a group of lights twinkled across a fir wood and he knew the Garth was not far ahead.

Obeded Orders

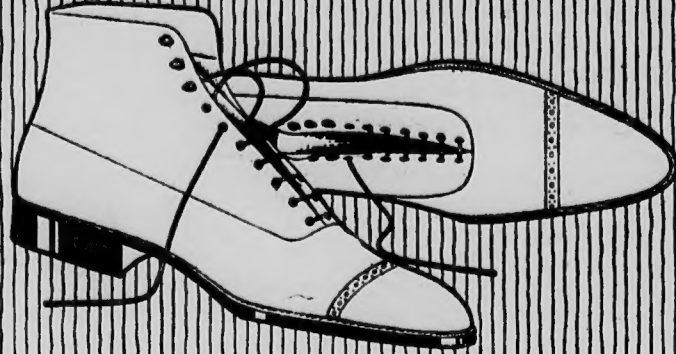

The Canuck was sent to the rear with a Hun prisoner to where the cages yawned for him, but he returned much too soon to have made the journey and the captain was a wee bit suspicious.

"What became of your prisoner?" he asked.

"He stopped, sir," said the Canuck, "and as I had no orders to halt, sir, I kept right on walking and unfortunately my bayonet went right through him, sir."

Lincoln's Steadfastness

I do the very best I know how—the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference.—Abraham Lincoln.

Correct style worn by well dressed young men in all localities. Lace boot—medium narrow recede toe, low heel—made in black, tan or patent calf. Price, $7.00 to $10.00.

Style—Plus Service at a Fair Price

THE style illustrated above is one that is largely preferred by Canadian business men—especially young men. It has the medium long vamp and narrow, somewhat pointed toe which gives the foot a slim and "dressy" appearance, without being extreme in style. Those who like this type of shoe will find it thoroughly satisfactory in fitting qualities and a comfortable easy shoe to walk in.

This style can be obtained in several grades of black and tan. The price range—$7 to $10—considering the present leather market, is extremely moderate.

Next spring a shoe of the same wearing qualities will cost from ten to twenty per cent more. It would cost more now except for the fact that the resources of this company enable us to cover our needs well in advance.

The People of Arctic Russia

Natives Live in Huts and Cottages Made of Logs

"Among the strange and little-known peoples dwelling in remote and trackless regions of the far north are the primitive native races of arctic Siberia. Their vast habit extends from the extreme corner of northeastern Asia for thousands of miles inland and along the Arctic Ocean. Two of these peoples, the Yakuts and Koryaks, are especially interesting.

"The Yakuts are the largest and most cultured of all the primitive races of Siberia. They live in the great province of Yakutsk.

"The extreme northern part of their country is the coldest region on earth, the temperature falling to 80 and 90 degrees below zero. Here the soil is eternally frozen for hundreds of feet below the surface; even at the height of summer, only a yard of unfrozen soil veneers the admixture of earth and ice, affording foothold for the gray tundra-moss and occasional patches of grass and dwarf willow.

"The natives live in youtas, or semi-underground huts, and a few one-story log cottages, as do the Russian administrative officials. For 10 months the country is a dreary, trackless sea of driven snow, with far lower temperatures than the regions about the north and south poles. During the brief summer thaw of two months, the tundra, as the open country is called, is an impassable swamp.

"The Yakuts are the most numerous tribe of Eastern Siberia, numbering some 250,000, and are typical representatives of the culture of the Turkish tribes of Central Asia. In spite of their present isolation from the other branches of the Turkish race and their probable mixture with the Mongols and others, the Yakuts, in the course of their migrations, have preserved one of the oldest and purest dialects of the language spoken by the Kirghiz, the Tartars and other Turkish peoples."

Army Likes Sweetness

An army order for 875,000 25-ounce cans of blackberry and plum jam to a canner shows the huge demand being made upon Oregon for canned fruit products. The filling of this immense contract will require 34 million pounds of sugar. This is the largest order of its kind made by the U.S. government for sweets for soldiers.

Cavalry Still Useful

This Arm of the Service Is Not Obsolete

The successful use of cavalry in driving the Germans out of the St. Mihiel salient is another reminder of the danger of concluding that this or that arm of the service has been rendered obsolete by the modern conditions of warfare. If the war has taught us anything it has taught us that prophecy in this and similar respects is futile. What appears a permanent development proves merely temporary; one form of fighting goes out of use, but almost before we realize it comes back again. War of movement is succeeded by trench war, but trench war gives way to war of movement again. We see the largest calibre guns playing the main part in the campaign, but just when we have become accustomed to the thought of them as perhaps the dominant factor, smaller calibers are used increasingly—and the Germans lay particular stress on the value of machine guns even in heavy fighting.

Impurities of the Blood Counteracted.—Impurities in the blood come from defects in the action of the liver. They are revealed by pimples and unsightly blotches on the skin. They must be treated inwardly, and for this purpose there is no more effective compound to be used than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They act directly on the liver and by setting up healthy processes have a beneficial effect upon the blood, so that impurities are eliminated.

ANY CORN LIFTS OUT, DOESN'T HURT A BIT

No foolishness! Lift your corns and calluses off with fingers —It's like magic!

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn, can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you apply upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

For little cost one can get a small bottle of freezone at any drug store, which will positively rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain.

This simple drug dries the moment it is applied and does not even irritate the surrounding skin while applying it or afterwards.

This announcement will interest many of our readers. If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to surely get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.

A Sea Surprise

It may be early days to remind the reader that Germany has three strings to her bow—her military offensive, her peace offensive, and her navy. Be sure that when, and if, the two first have definitely failed, the third string will be pulled, and be sure that the Germans are preparing, and will endeavor to spring upon us a tactical surprise by sea, as they did by land, and that this will not be unconnected with some new use of the mine, submarine, and torpedo boat.

A Salt for Healing Bone

He reports eighty-three cases of various bone and joint diseases cured in from three weeks to seven months.

What "Y. M. C. A." Means

The officiating minister at the Welsh chapel in the hills was of English extraction, but he did his best with the Welsh names in the intimation given him to read from the pulpit. This was the conclusion of his announcement:

The congregation was mystified as to the identity of the Yumka—all except the author of the document, who knew he had written "Y.M.C.A."—London Chronicle.

Aviators' Slang

The British aviator is an adept at inventing slang terms. The latest additions to the vocabulary of the R. A. F. are "To blind," is to dash along at a reckless, unseen pace; "to go dis," is to break down; "bunking" is shelling; "insurance agents" are enemy bombing planes; while "an attack of severe vertical gusts," is the feeling that follows the explosion of a shell before one realizes whether it is high explosive alone or high explosive and gas mixed.

Folk Names of Flowers

Tell Time and Weather by Their Behaviour

Quaint and pretty are the names given to flowers by the English country folk, who manage thereby to express peculiarities of form or color poetic or moral fancies. Thus Honesty is "Money-in-both-pockets," a maximum not always true outside the cottage garden; Columbine are "Grannies' Bonnets," Calceolarias are "Fisherman's Baskets," while the spikes of Larkspur are "Noah's Arks."

The "Virgin Mary's Milk Drops" has a white-spotted leaf and the Balsam is a "Jacob's Ladder." Many other flowers also have a spice of piety in their names, probably because generations ago the monks healed the body as well as the mind, and being skilful herbalists, named the flowers from which they brewed their samples and cordials. The "Lady" therefore in "Lady Slipper," "Lady's Smock" and "Lady's Bedstraw" means "Our Lady," who is again signified in "Rosemary" and "Marybuds," while "St. John's Wort" with its golden crowns, and "Crosswort" with its ivory crosses, are very aptly named. But while the monks practised piety even in their flower names, the common people believed in fairies and the like and practically imagined that certain flowers were for fairy use. So the harebell became the "Fairycap" and the Medick's tiny bouquet of wee golden blossoms descended to us as a "Fairy Cheesecake." Nor is the gentle passion forgotten, as "Love in a mist" and "Love lies bleeding" testify, while surely "Lads' Love" is a fragrant as the memory of a first love.

Many countrymen can tell both time and weather by the behaviour of the flowers. The Scarlet Pimpernel is commonly known as the "Poor-man's weather glass," and the cottager's dinner is timed by "John-go-to-bed-at-noon," which is almost unknown by its proper name of "Goat's Beard."

Merciful Bombing of Austrian City

The text of the leaflets dropped on Austria by an Italian air squadron commander, Major d'Annunzio, the poet, was as follows:

"Viennese! You are to be taught to know the Italians. We are flying over Vienna. We could drop tons of bombs, we are dropping greetings in three colors, the colors of liberty. We do not make war on women and children. We are making war on your government, the enemy of national liberties, on your blind government, which does not know how to give you bread, feeding you on hatred and illusion. You are intelligent. Why have you adopted the Prussian uniform? All the world is against you. If you wish to continue the war it is your suicide." The distance covered by the raiders was about 621 miles, 497 miles being over enemy territory. One machine only was lost.

Women, Prepare!

Thousands of women in Canada have overcome their sufferings, and have been cured of woman's ills by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This temperance medicine, though started nearly half a century ago, sells most widely to-day. It can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid, and every woman who suffers from backache, headache, nervousness, should take this "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce's. It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription for its ingredients are printed on wrapper. Send 10c for trial package to Dr. V. M. Pierce, Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., or Bridgeburg, Ont.

Hamilton, Ont.—"When I reached the critical period I was a nervous wreck and suffered with hot flashes and dizzy spells. 'Favorite Prescription' relieved me of all these ailments and brought me through this trying time safely. For women of middle age there is no tonic equal to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and I never hesitate to recommend it to my friends."—Mrs. ANNE SOULES, 41 Hess St. N.

Stratford, Ont.—"I was greatly benefited by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; it was before twins came. I had become all run-down, was nauseated, very nervous and weak, and suffered with backache. Was not able to do anything for three months, when I began taking 'Favorite Prescription.' It soon gave me relief and it was not long when I was strong and healthy. 'Favorite Prescription' was surely a great help to me and I am glad to recommend it."—Mrs. L. J. MANTLE, 61 Kent Lane.

AROUND THE TOWN

A public thanksgiving service for the ending of the war is to be held all over the Dominion on Sunday, December 1st.

Now for a happy Christmas. Five weeks from today will be Christmas day. Get busy Mr. merchant on your advertising and let the people know what you have to sell to make this the happiest Christmas in four years.

Rev. L. P. Amacher, assisted by Rev. J. E. Bender, will commence revival services in the Westcott Evangelical church immediately after the withdrawal of the quarantine. A hearty invitation is extended to all.

Fire destroyed a barn at the rear of the Presbyterian manse on Thursday last. By good hard work the manse was saved as was also another barn within a few feet of it. The fire was caused by small boys playing with matches.

Both Dr. Clark and Dr. Evans report that there are very few cases of influenza in town and district now. The doctors have had a mighty hard time during the last few weeks and it's dollars to doughnuts that they feel greatly relieved.

Parker R. Reed, chairman, and J. M. Reed, secretary of the Didsbury Victory Loan Committee, deserve a great deal of commendation for their strenuous efforts to make the loan a success in this district under existing conditions. They are both busy public men.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held on Tuesday evening to consider lifting the ban on schools, etc., but word was received from Edmonton that they could not give permission for Didsbury to take action until Health officers from other points had been heard from in the district from Airdrie in the south to Lacombe in the north.

Yes, the young ladies who volunteered their assistance at the temporary hospital deserve to have their names put on an honor roll. It was no small thing to go into this hospital and endanger their own health by doing so. The PIONEER hopes to be able to publish a list of their names next week so that they will go down in the history of Didsbury as having done their duty in its time of trouble.

It is to be hoped that the Board of Health and the School Board will not be in too great a hurry to open the schools. At least two of the principal teachers, Miss Lantz and Miss Riddell, deserve a few days to recuperate after their service at the temporary hospital, and the danger of a fresh outbreak of the influenza should be guarded against in the schools especially. A few more days idleness of the scholars would be better than having to fight the flu all over again.

Mrs. E. M. Stringer and Child Died of Influenza

The death of Bessie Ioda Stringer, wife of Mr. E. M. Stringer, which occurred on Saturday, November 2nd, caused by Spanish influenza, and the subsequent death of the child, Charles Henry, on Nov. 7th, has cast a pall over the neighborhood of Westcott. Mr. Stringer has the sympathy of all who know him. Mrs. Stringer reached the age of 32 years, 4 months and 6 days. She came from Kansas to Alberta in 1902. In 1914 she was married to Mr. E. M. Stringer. They lived together happily, and one wonders why she was taken away thus early. She is survived by the grief-stricken husband and one little daughter, Jennie, who also was very ill but is now recovering, also her father, Mr. Henry J. Tuggle, step-mother, four brothers, one sister and many other relatives and friends. The son, Charles Henry, who had arrived at the age of 2 years and 23 days, followed the mother in death only five days later. The burial service was conducted on Friday, November 8th, by her pastor, Rev. L. P. Amacher, and interment made in the Westcott cemetery.

Rosebud News

The weather continues fine and stock is looking good. So far we have had very little freezing. Sunny Alberta is worthy of the name.

Mrs. Annie Shantz has been very ill for some time with the flu. We anticipate an early recovery.

Wilson and Wyman have been bailing hay of late.

Mrs. A. J. Peron and children visited her mother, Mrs. W. H. Ault, last Wednesday.

Mrs. J. C. Stevens has been down with the flu and was very miserable for a number of days.

Mr. Chas. Deadrick is getting young in his old days; since the war ended he can jump about two feet high and smiles and smiles and smiles.

The Sherk and Oldham families are down with the flu and quite sick.

Mrs. C. S. Chapin spent a pleasant afternoon last Friday with Mrs. W. H. Ault.

Mr. Nelson Burgess has started to feed on C. Chapin's hay press. Now we expect to hear of some big days work.

Ault and Peron loaded a car of prairie hay last Friday and we understand they got $20 per ton.

Will Leigh passed away at the home of his parents on Friday, November 8th, of influenza, aged 16 years. The remains were laid to rest in the Olds cemetery. He leaves a father and mother, three brothers and two sisters to mourn their loss.

RED CROSS BULLETIN

The Society beg to acknowledge with thanks the following donation:

Mrs. Chas. Brown.....$5.00

Calgary, Nov. 13th, 1918.

Dear Sir or Madam:

The last few days have seen the cessation of hostilities and the world is practically assured of a satisfactory, and we trust, a lasting peace. While great issues have been shaping themselves abroad, our people at home have been engaged in combating the ravages of an epidemic, during which members of our Red Cross Branches have volunteered their services to nurse the sick and to assist the suffering by every means in their power. The organization of the Red Cross in Alberta, has been placed at the disposal of the public health department, and Red Cross supplies have been sent to influenza patients in all parts of the province. Under these circumstances, we take this opportunity of congratulating all our Branches on the splendid work which has been accomplished through their efforts.

The Canadian Red Cross Society is a war-time organization, and as such has hitherto carried on its operations only in time of war. Its work has been limited to the relief of sick and wounded soldiers, to the amelioration of the condition of prisoners of war, and to those civilians who have suffered as a direct result of war. A meeting of the Central Council of the Society will be held in Toronto on the 26th inst., after which we hope to be in a position to furnish information as to the demands which are likely to be made upon the Red Cross during the coming months. In the meantime we would like to point out to our Branches that even with the advent of peace, there should be no lessening of Red Cross effort. All workers are reminded that:

(1) Red Cross supplies and comforts will be needed for sick and wounded soldiers for some considerable time after hostilities have ceased.

(2) The needs of our invalid soldiers who are returning home must be met and comforts and supplies will be required in Canadian military hospitals for many months to come.

(3) At the present time, the attention of the Canadian Red Cross is directed to the pitiful conditions existing amongst refugees of allied nations returning to their homes with practically no clothing and in urgent need of assistance, also to the requirements of our forces in Siberia and to the needs of our allies in that country. Fuller information in regard to this work is expected in the course of the next few days, and will be made public.

During the past four years the work of the Red Cross has become one of the most important factors in our national life, and as such it is felt that the possibility of utilizing this great organization for promoting the health and welfare of the Canadian people in time of peace, must be considered. This question will be fully discussed at the coming meeting of the Central Council on the 26th inst., at which representatives from Alberta will be present. The results of this conference will be laid before our people as soon as possible thereafter. In the meantime we ask that you will direct the attention of your workers to the information contained in this communication.

Yours faithfully,

R. B. BENNET,

President.

Clareholm, Alta.,

Nov. 8th, 1918.

Mr. H. E. OSMOND,

Editor DIDSBURY PIONEER.

Dear Sir,—To-night in Clareholm an organization meeting is being held to inaugurate a campaign for Red Shield Campaign. Already Okotoks, High River, Cayley, Parkland, Nanton and Staveley have taken up this matter with a warmth that is indeed a good criterion of success. Date first week in December. Our hearts are indeed gladdened by the approaching peace once more. Oh, what a Christmas 1918 will be to the world! But in the meantime can we not do something practical to make this a more glorious time of rejoicing to all. Every effort made for the direct benefits of those who have sweltered in their own blood, shed to obtain a universal world peace, on the plains of France and Belgium, will quicken our own heart-throb as we listen to Christmas music and enjoy friendship of which they must still be bereft. The following has taken hold of me because of its bearing on this question today:

DO YOU HEAR THE VOICE CALLING?

There is darkness, still gross darkness, Lord,

On this fair earth of thine;

There are prisoners still in the prison-house,

Where never a light doth shine.

There are doors still bolted against Thee,

There are faces set like a wall;

And over them all the shadow of death hangs like a pall.

Do you hear the voices calling

Out there in the black of the night?

Do you hear the sobs of the women

Who are barred from the blessed light?

And the children, the little children,

Do you hear their pitiful cry?

Oh, brothers, we must seek them,

Or there in the dark they die!

Spread the light, spread the light!

Till earth's remotest bounds have heard

The glory of the Living Word;

Till those that see not have their sight,

Till all the fringes of the night

Are lifted, and the long-closed doors

Are wide for ever to the light,

Spread the light!

Oh, then shall dawn the golden days

To which true hearts are pressing,

When earth's discordant strains shall blend—

The one true God confessing.

"Pies, doughnuts and prayers," are a fit combination for just such gospel-spreading as the Salvation Army practices every day. Here's to the people who feel much like John D. Rockefeller when asked why he did not attend public dinners. He is credited with saying: "Well you see I do not eat much, and while you are not obliged to eat you have to listen to the speeches, and the average after-dinner speech is like a bicycle wheel—the longer the spoke the greater the tire!" Lest I fall into this condemnation I will just add, give to Red Shield Campaign—give of time, influence, money to make it a success! There is the need, here are you—just give!

Grateful for all,

LILLIE I. BRYENTON,

Adjutant.

CARD OF THANKS

I take this means of expressing my sincere thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors for their help and sympathy in the recent illness and loss of my beloved wife.

GEO. PARSONS,

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this opportunity of thanking all who so kindly lent their aid in connection with the fire which occurred on the manse premises last Thursday afternoon. Had it not been for the prompt and energetic efforts of those who came to the rescue the situation would certainly have become much more serious.
